

AUSTRALIA'S R&D IS THE FUTURE

A close-up photograph of a laboratory setting. In the foreground, a metal tray holds two glass vials with white caps. The background is slightly blurred, showing more laboratory equipment and a warm, yellowish light.

The R&D tax incentive supports Australia's current and future capacity to meet the increasing global demand for healthcare innovation.

#NoRandDcap

Dear Treasurer,

I strongly oppose the introduction of a $2 million cap on the annual cash refund payable under the R&D Tax Incentive. I believe the proposed cap will negatively impact Australia's ability to be globally competitive in:

- Public & Private Medical Research Clinical Trials
- Advanced Manufacturing STEM Jobs
- Other:
